

Phoenix Rising Books - The Latest

October 10th 2008

Hello,

I trust this letter finds you well. I am going to jump straight into our major promotion for October as it is both exciting and somewhat different for us. Back in 2001 a concept band called 1 Giant Leap, released to the world their double Grammy nominated film and album – 'Not All Those That Wander are Lost.' The DVD and CD took on cult status across the globe and sold over 20,000 units in Australia alone.

The two principals of 1 Giant Leap, Duncan Bridgeman and Jamie Catto then went on to make their second film and album, titled 'What About Me?' This time instead of focusing on Unity and Inspiration, Jamie and Duncan decided to find the same uplifting message through the darker doorways of Shadow, Shame, Pain, Anger, Us & Them, Conflict, as well as more general themes such as Freedom, Sex and Love. They travelled further than before, including China, Japan, Brasil, Mexico, and the Middle East as well as their usual haunts in nine African nations and all over India and Europe. The result is our lead title for the month. For lots more about the project I have created a dedicated page on the Phoenix website.

Duncan will be visiting Australia in early November. Come along to a screening of the cinematic version and participate in a Q&A with Duncan. All the details can be found at the What About Me! Page.

Enjoy!
